

Symphony Concert 25 September 2022

Rhodes University Orchestra in collaboration with Nelson Mandela University Symphony Orchestra will perform a Symphony Concert on Sunday 25 September 2022 in the Guy Butler Hall, Settlers Monument. The programme presents the premiere of a new composition Moments for Orchestra composed by the young South African composer Artur Feder. The new symphonic work was composed specifically for the concert, and features local Uhadi player Zanethemba Mdyogolo. Two other local soloists Bayanda Mthetho (piano) and Ben Terry (cello) will each perform a movement of a concerto by Beethoven and Elgar respectively. NMU soprano Lindokuhle Gushu will perform two arias by Mozart and Catalini. In addition, the collaborative orchestra will perform the well known Hebrides Overture (Mendelssohn) and the Finale from the New World Symphony (Dvorak).
